

“Following the good start two years ago, WindEnergy Hamburg has developed very well and has now become a global forum for the industry.”

Dr. Markus Tacke, CEO Siemens Wind Power and Renewables Division

POSTSHOW REPORT

THE WORLD'S LEADING EXPO FOR WIND ENERGY

WindEnergy Hamburg 2016 has produced outstanding results: 1,400 exhibitors from 34 countries presented their innovative products and services in 9 exhibition halls, on total space of 65,000 square metres, covering the whole value chain onshore and offshore.

Some 35,000 trade visitors from 48 nations were there, and used this global meeting point for networking and for new business leads.

“Hamburg, the capital of the wind industry, not only hosted the world's biggest wind industry meeting ever, but also provided the ideal conditions for further development of the industry. The international wind market will grow by a great many megawatts in the follow-up to this expo,” said Bernd Aufderheide, President and CEO Hamburg Messe und Congress GmbH.

So the prospects are excellent for the next WindEnergy Hamburg from 25 to 28 September 2018.
